Rev. I. Morton Mercer, the new pastor of West-View Baptist church, preached his first sermons there Sunday, filling the pulpit both merning and evening. Large ns were present at both ser vices, and the sermons were learned and beautiful expositions of the Gospel. His text in the morning was from Colossians, 28th and 29th: "Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus: whereunto labor, striving according to His orking, which worketh in me mightily."

"For wherein shall it be known here that I and thy people have found grace in Thy sight? Is it not in that rated, I and Thy people, from all the peo ple that are upon the face of the earth."

There were no special services in connection with the welcome accorded the new pastor; but next Sunday installation services will be held, commencing at 3.30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. William E. Hatcher will preside and Mr. Robert M. Smith, one of the descens will deliver an adone of the deacons, will deliver an ad-dress of welcome on the part of the con-gregation. The Violet Society will, on Thursday of next week, tender a re-MR. WHITLEY AT BROAD-STREET.

The formal opening of the Church of the Holy Trinity, the beautiful edifice on Laurel street between Main street and Laurel street between Main street and Floyd avenue, took place Sunday morning. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. J. J. Gravatt, the rector, who came here from Hampton little more than a year ago to succeed Rev. Dr. Sprigg, resigned. Every pew in the pretty house of worship was filled, and the congregation was quite a fashionable one. Bishop Newton preached the sermon, which was an able and foretble discourse was an able and forcible discourse which was an able and forcible discourse upon building of the Temple of God. In his conclusion the Assistant-Bishop spoke of the beauty and magnificence of the church, and of the indefatigable energy expended by both rector and congregation in its erection. Holy communion was celebrated after the regular service. This church is one of the handsomest in the THE MISSIONARY MEETING.

At night the regular monthly meeting of the Richmond Protestant Episcopal Missionary Society was held at the Church of the Holy Trinity. The attendance was so large that many persons were unable to gain admission, and returned home. Nearly all the Episcopal turned home. Rearly all the Episcope clergy of the city were present. The ser-vices were conducted in very impressive manner by Rev. Dr. John K. Mason and Rev. Messrs. J. Y. Downman and Pres-ton Nash. Rev. F. S. OUR PREACHERS IN TENNESSEE. The Baptist and Reflector, of Nashville,

The Baptist and Reflector, of Nashville, has the following account of Dr. Hatcher's work in that city:
The meetings at the First Baptist church, of this city, in which Pastor Frost is being assisted by Dr. W. E. Hatcher, are daily growing in interest. Dr. Hatcher is preaching some very plain, practical, earnest, old-fashloned Gospel sermons, which are making deep impressions upon his audiences. The convergence sermons, which are making deep impressions upon his audiences. The congregations are constantly increasing. It is hoped that this week will see a great outpouring upon the church and the community, and that many souls will be born into the Kingdom of the Lord. Dr. Hatcher's coming to Nashville has been a benediction to the Baptists of the city. He is a great preacher, as well as a genial, whole-souled man." Dr. Hatcher will return for services in his church next Sunday.

WORK OF THE ORPHANAGE.

Rev. George J. Hobday, superintendent of the Baptist Orphanage, at Salem, preached at Grace-Street church Sunday morning and at Barton Heights at night. At the latter place he gave a very interesting account of the work being done by the institution of which he has control. There were, he said, fifty-eight children in the orphanage. by the institution of which he has control. There were, he said, fifty-eight children in the orphanage, who were being trained in various ways. The institution is now being supported by the Baptist churches of the State, and costs about $500 per month. It was his aim and ambition to make it self-sustaining, and every effort to this end was now being made. In the course of a short time a tottage, to cost $4,000 or $5,000, will be erected by Messrs. Schmelz Brothers, of Hampton. This cottage will have room for the accommodation of fifty boys, and as soon as it is completed the other building will be turned over for the exclusive use of the girls. Considerable machinery has been donated to the institution, and the board have in view the erection of an industrial building.

At the annual meeting of the Pine-Street Baptist Sunday school, held Sunday afternoon, the following were elected for the ensuing term: H. S. Carter, super-intendent; W. L. Snyder, first assistant superintendent; W. H. Bottoms, second assistant superintendent; William Daniel, secretary; C. E. Hill, assistant secretary; William H. Hill, librarian; Robert S. Trower, Walter C. Hill, and John R. Hooper, Jr., assistant librarians; J. W. R. Johnson, treasurer; Lucien Minor and Clinton R. Carter, choristers; Mrs. Julia Hooper, Miss Maud Hill, and Miss Annie Hankins, organists.

This is one of the largest Sunday schools in the city, having a roll strength of 730, with an average attendance of 530.

The Baitimore papers of yesterday announce the resignation of Rev. F. 12. Ellis, D. D., pastor of Eutaw-Place Baptist church. Dr. Ellis came from Fremont Temple, Boston, to this pastorate ten years ago, and has been one of the most prominent and useful men in the Southern Baptist ministry. It is thought probable that he will go from Baltimore to the Washington-Avanue church, in Brooklyn. Dr. Ellis has preached frequently in this city, and has a great many friends and admirers here, who will be sorry to hear of his probable departure for the North.

Mr. Wood stated that the object of the meeting was to organize and appoint committees for the purpose of canvassing the city to raise the money to liquidate the old debt of the society, so that it could begin at once to work on the next Exposition. He said that two or three members of the committee had been out already and had met with a very kind reception at the hands of the merchants, who affirmed that the Exposition had been of great benefit to them. In some instances firms that were down on the guarantee list, and understood that they could not be called on as guarantors, had promised to pay twice as much now, as they put themselves down for last spring on the guarantee list. The president asserted that those with whom he had come in contact seemed to be thoroughly in sympathy with the movement, and he thought the committee could raise the funds without any trouble. He also stated that people who had formerly not been in favor ple who had formerly not been in favor of expositions had expressed themselves since the last one given by the society as heartily in sympathy with them.

It was moved and adopted that the city be divided into sections and com-mittees be appointed to make a thorough The president appointed canvass.

AN UNRULY CONVICT.

A PRISONER IN THE STATE PENITENTIARY ATTACKS MANAGER REED.

The Young Man Who is Employed in the Tobacco-Factory is Bedly Beaten; With a Piece of Iron.

in the State penitentiary yesterday afteron when it became known that one of the convicts had attacked and almost killed Mr. Pleasant L. Reed, the manager of the press-room in Messrs. Larus Brothers' tobacco-factory, within the prison enclosure, and but for the prompt arrival of the guards on the scene the perpetrator of the assault upon Mr. Reed vould have been summarily dealt with by his fellow-prisoners, with all of whom

Mr. Reed is a general favorite. The attack was absolutely unprovoked, and but for the interference of Luke Valentine, a negro convict, and several other wearers of the stripes, it would of have been fatal.

Mr. Reed has charge of the press-room in the tobacco-factory, and G. W. Harris, a white convict, who was sent to the penitentiary from this city July 26th last for horse-stealing, to serve an eightyears' sentence, is employed as the ma-chinist in the establishment. He was considered a very dangerous prisoner, and Superintendent Lynn only permitted him Mr. Reed, who said the war who are employed in the tobacco-factory are furnished with all of the tobacco that they can chew during working hours, but are strictly enjoined against taking any of weed from the factory.

WAS STEALING THE WEED. Yesterday Mr. Reed caught Harris con-Yesterday Mr. Reed caught hards cealing some plugs in a drawer, presumably with a view to removing it to his cell, and he reported him to the Assistant Superintendent when that official made his rounds at 1 o'clock. Harris was called up, and, notwithstanding his denials, was ordered to be punished in the afternoon. This incensed him, and when he went back to his work he complained very bitterly, and, according to several of the convicts who worked near him, swore that he would kill Mr. Reed before the day was out.

day was out. About 2:30 o'clock the manager was About 2:30 o'clock the manager was scated at his desk writing, when, without warning. Harris crept up behind him and with a heavy piece of iron pipe dealt him a blow on the back of the head which felled him to the floor. The irate prisoner then got on top of him and commenced to belabor him roundly even the head and shoulders with the fron. The other prisoners, who were at their work, were too horrified at first to move, but Luke Valentine, one of the move, but Luce Valenthe, one of the oress hands, rushed to the rescue, and with a heavy piece of iron, struck Harris over the head. This apparently had no effect on him, and he continued his murlerous attack. Other convicts crowded around and pulled Harris from his prosector within He broke loose from them trate victim. He broke loose from them just as the guards, who were in another part of the room arrived on the scene, and there was a lively chase in which both prisoners and guards took part. WANTED TO PUNISH HIM.

The would-be assassin was finally run own, and it was all the guards could do to keep the rest of the prisoners from punishing him. Superintendent Lynn was immediately informed of the occurrence, immentately informed to the scene. He had Mr. Reed, who had recovered sufficiently to arise from the floor, taken to his home, No. 2505 east Broad street, and ordered that Harris be severely punished. corporal punishment as severe as the pri-son rules permit was administered. Iron son rules permit was administered. The were then put on him and he was Incarcerated in a dungeon, where he will remain for some time, with nothing but bread and water on which to substst. As soon as the Circuit Court convenes for the December term he will be taken befort that tribunal and tried on the charge of assault with intent to kill. This will probably result in his remaining in the prison for a period of eighteen instead of eight years, with no allowance of time for good behavior.

Dr. George Ross was called in to attend Mr. Reed, and found that while his wounds were not dangerous, they were quite serious and painful. He had a cut over his nose about an inch long, another on top of his head about the same length, and still another on the In addition to these cuts, the back of the neck was badly bruised, as was also the head and shoulders. The young man will probably be confined to his room for several days.

He is unmarried and about 28 years of age, and lives with his mother, on Church Hill.

THE ELKS LODGE OF SORROW. Good Music and Excellent Speeches at the

Sunday Afternoon Session. Richmond Lodge, No. 45, of Elks, held their annual memorial service at the their annual memorial service at the Academy Sunday afternoon. The house was crowded from pit to dome, and the utmost decorum and reverence was observed throughout the entire ceremony. The decorations were liberal, appropriate, and effective, consisting of black and white bunting arranged in lambrequins, streamers and bannerets, systematically disposed round the walls, boxes and galleries and hanging from the proscenium arch.

The service, which was instituted seven teen years ago, is solemn and interes-ing, and created a profound impression ing, and created a profound impression on all those present. The brothers who were commemorated were H. I. Ottey, W. H. Talman, Henry Bucker, W. A. Gans, H. F. Phillips, A. W. Pizzini, Charles L. Siegel, Joseph H. Beckman, Robert J. Archer, and Ira Glazebrook. The vacant chairs of the deceased members, ranged on the stage right, were surmounted by their Eik aprons, and a white shield embossed with the late brother's name stood in front, while above each was an electric-lamp, which was kindled as the dead man's name was called for the third and last time during the ed for the third and last time during the ed for the third and last time during the "roll-call," creating an effect that was profoundly touching and highly symbolical, being at the same time somewhat startling, weird, and dramatic.

The officers of the lodge were seated in their respective positions, and the rank-and-file members occupied the two front rows of seats on the ground-floor. Eulogy was the keynote of the whole service. The fraternal sentiment which entered so largely into the proceedings, and the many touching tributes and tokens of genuine heartfelt sorrow struck many tered so largely into the proceedings, and the many touching tributes and tokens of genuine heartfelt sorrow struck many responsive chords in the breasts of that vast concourse of people and called up recollections and emotions that bedimmed the eyes of many a hardened wayfarer.

The musical programme, which was admirably rendered, did much to impress and elevate those present. The combined orchestras of the Academy and Theatre, under the direction of Brother M. Stein, were in attendance. The hymns were beautifully rendered by a chorus of 250 voices. The soloists were Miss Ida Robinson, Mrs. Knowles, Captain Cunningham, and Mr. James R. Branch, while Messrs. Clowes and Lohman took part in the concerted numbers of the programme. The service opened shortly after 3 o'clock with the grandly-solemn strains of Wagner's "Pligrim's Chorus," beautifully rendered by the orchestras. Every musical item was given with exquisite taste and feeling, and the whole attained a high degree of artistic excellence. The most notable numbers were "Weary," by the quartette of the Centenary Methodist church, and Gounod's "There is a Green Hill Far Away," by Miss Ida Robinson.

"Orations were delivered by Mr. Juan A. Pizzini, of Richmond, and Mr. J. F., Duncan, of Norfolk, and the eulogy on the "Departed Brothers" was pronounced by Mr. L. O. Wendenburg. Mr. Pizzini spoke on "The Order of Elks." Briefly and ternely he reviewed the objects, tenets, and achievements of the great order, speaking with a power and earnestness that were convincing.

"The Duty of an Elk" was the theme of Mr. Duncan, who did ample justice. Embellishing his address with admirable oratorical effects, Mr. Duncan spoke with a fluency and ease that stamped him as an orator of very brilliant parts. Mr. Wendenburg paid a manly and touching tribute to the departed brothers in a very able and eloquent eulogy.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
RICHMOND, VA., December 1, 1894.
A PROCLAMATION.

A PROCLAMATION.

Pursuant to an act of the General Assembly of Virginia, entitled "an act to provide for the submission to the people of the proposed amendment to the teath clause of Article I., of the Constitution of Virginia, in relation to the mode of trial in criminal or capital prosecutions," approved February 12, 1884, the said proposed amendment was duly submitted to the people at the election held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1834, and the result duly ascertained by the Board of State Canvassers, on the fourth Monday in November, 184, and the same certified to me by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Now, therefore, I. Charles T. O'Ferrall, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, as directed by said act, do hereby make proclamation of the result, so ascertained and certified, as follows: Number of votes cast for said proposed amendment, one hundred and eight thousand eight hundred and eight theough (19885); against said proposed amendment, twenty-four thousand, three hundred and (103,855); against said proposed amendment, twenty-four thousand, three hundred and forty-one (24,341).

A majority of said votes, having been cast for the ratification of said amendment, I annex a copy of the same to this proclamation, as required by said act.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the Commonwealth, at the city of Richmond, the first day of December, in the year of our Lord one Shar. thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and nineteenth. CHARLES T. O'FERRALL. teepth.

By the Governor.

J. T. Lawless,
Secretary of Commonwealth.

Strike from the Constitution of Virginia the tenth clause of Article I, of the same, which is in these words: ARTICLE I.

"Section 10. That in all capital or criminal prosecutions, a man hath the right to demand the cause and nature of his accusation, to be confronted with the accusers and witnesses, to call for evidence in his favor, and to a speedy trial by an impartial jury of his vicinage, without whose unanimous consent he cannot be found guilty, nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself; that no man can be deprived of his liberty, except by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers," and in lieu thereof insert the following:

Section 10. That in all criminal or capital prosecutions, a man hath the right to demand the cause and nature of his accusers and witnesses, to call for evidence in his favor, and to a speedy trial by an impartial jury of his vicinage, without whose unanimous consent he cannot be found guilty; but the General Assembly may, by law, provide for the trial otherwise than by jury of a man accused of a criminal offence not punishable by death or confinement in the penitentiary; nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself; that no man be deprived of his liberty, except by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers.
